

FIVE HURT IN EXPLOSION

3 KILLED, 15 HURT, MANY IN PERIL

Men, Women and Children in Panic on Fire Escapes Jump for Lives From Blazing Tenement.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Three persons were killed and fifteen were injured in a fire in a tenement house at 44 Hester street early today. The dead were BEREL WEINSTEIN, his wife ANNA, and their ONE-YEAR-OLD SON.

They were suffocated and burned in their apartments on the fifth floor. That more lives were not lost was largely due to the prompt action of three policemen who seeing flames in the hall rushed through the building and aroused the members of sixteen sleeping families. By that time the stairs were a mass of flames and the only means of exit was by the fire escapes.

Panic on Fire Escapes.
In their mad attempt to escape from the smoke and flames scores of scantily clad men, women and children crowded the narrow, iron platforms and ladders until they became wedged in solid masses on the fire escapes unable to extricate themselves and blocking the way of those who had not yet succeeded in getting out of the building.

This was the situation when the firemen arrived and began to run up ladders to take the panic-stricken fugitives from their perilous position.

The work moved forward very slowly, however, as in some instances the combined efforts of half a dozen firemen were required to drag a woman or child from the tightly packed platforms.

In the meantime the flames had been constantly spreading and the terror among the tenants had carried them past the point of self restraint.

Jump for Their Lives.
While firemen on ladders and others on the ground were calling out to them that there was no danger and that help soon would reach them, many began to jump from the windows.

David Miller sprang from a fourth story window and sustained injuries which probably will cause death. Fannie Gammann, Fannie Berzon and Rysman Mettlemann who jumped from windows on the second and third floors have broken limbs and were taken to hospitals.

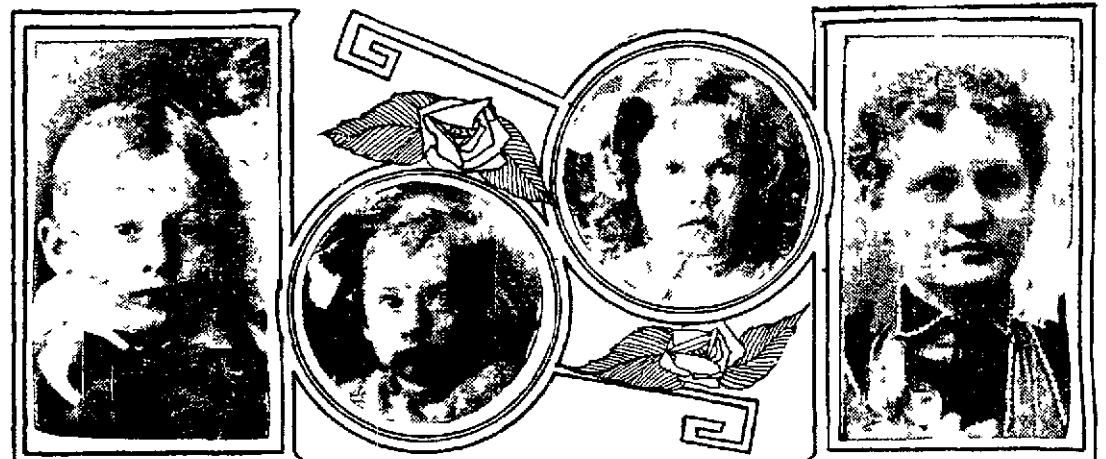

Several others were internally injured. Many others sustained more or less bruises. They were taken to hospitals. Weinstein and his wife and baby were found lying dead in their rooms on the top floor of the burning building after the flames had been extinguished. Apparently they had been overcome by smoke while trying to reach the blazing stairs.

The building was damaged to the extent of about $2000.

JUDGE OGDEN EXONERATED BY THE SUPREME COURT

All of the Justices United in These Findings

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The seven justices of the Supreme Court of California unite in an opinion handed down today fully exonerating Judge Frank B. Ogden of the Superior Court of Alameda county of all the imputation of unfair practice in his connection with the case of the Pekin Mining and Milling Company vs. James Kennedy et al. which is reported in eighty-first California reports. They find as the Alameda Bar Association found that Judge Ogden was an innocent party to the transaction that he had no notice during the trial of the case that fraud had been imputed to him and only became aware of it when the eighty-first California report was published that therefore he exhausted every means to have a full investigation by the trial judge and by the Supreme Court.

others in the above entitled suit, no charge of fraud was made against Ogdén and there was no intimation that he was to be charged with fraud. Nothing in the answer tended to give notice that any such fraud was claimed.

"At the trial of the cause Ogdén was called, testified and went his way. Upon his examination, neither his integrity nor the fairness of his act was called in question. He never was informed during or after the trial of the cause that his testimony had been disputed or his fair dealing questioned. He had no interest in the litigation and the first knowledge that he acquired that the findings of the trial court in any way reflected upon him was from reading the reported decision of this court.

Exonerated by Bar Association.

"Immediately on becoming aware of this decision the said Ogdén himself presented the matter to the bar association of Alameda county, of which he was a member, with the request that an immediate investigation of his conduct be had. Such investigation was had and resulted in his complete exoneration, and the bar association of Alameda county addressed a letter early in the year 1899 to the justices of this court, declaring that, after examination, the said Ogdén, who had at that time become judge in the county, was about to request a hearing before this court of the matters touching his integrity and asked that such hearing be granted him.

"The judges of the Superior Court of Alameda county, expressing from their own knowledge the highest opinion of the character of Judge Ogdén, united with the Bar Association in this request. The request, which was urged upon this court personally by Judge Ogdén, and also by a committee of the Bar Association of Alameda county, appointed for that purpose, was to the effect that this court should in some appropriate manner investigate the matter of the alleged fraud of Ogdén, and report its conclusions thereon in some suitable way by foot notes or appendix to the case of Pekin Mining & Milling Company vs. Kennedy, already reported. The justices of this court, each and all expressing his willingness to do anything to subserve the ends of justice, pointed out the impossibility of adding such foot notes to the volume, because it was already in print and suggested, moreover, that as the judgment of this court in the case had been a judgment ordering a new trial, it would be possible for Judge Ogdén, upon such new trial, to have the facts thoroughly investigated and a finding in accordance with that fact declared by the trial court.

Urges Retrial.

"Judge Ogdén then immediately communicated with Marcus T. Bennett, Esq., who had been the attorney for the plaintiff in the litigation, urging him to press the case for retrial, and offering to bear all the costs and expenses attending such trial, for the sole purpose, so far as he was concerned, of presenting to the court all of the evidence upon the question of his alleged fraudulent practice. Judge Bennett replied that a new trial was impracticable, as the hostile interests had been consolidated and the case had passed from his management and control, concluding his letter by offering his assistance to do whatever he could "to remove the blot from your good name, which I believe has been most unjustly attached to it."

"Judge Ogdén then requested Judge Bennett to confer with Judge Williams, who was the trial judge, and learn from him whether he would not be willing to take evidence and report upon this single matter, it being urged that he would do so without impairment of any of the rights under the decision, since his judgment had been reversed by the Supreme Court, and his finding of the fraudulent practice of Ogdén was not within the issues of the case and in no way necessary to sustain the judgment.

Obstacles in the Way.

"Judge Williams, in turn, could not see his way clear to try any portion of the case by piecemeal and declined to do so. Appeal was also made to George G. Blanchard, Esq., who had been the attorney for the defendants in the case, asking him aid that the matter might be thoroughly investigated and cleared up, and Mr. Blanchard wrote that he 'exonerated Mr. Ogdén from all imputation of wrong in the matter you refer to. . . I am ready to do anything in my power to relieve Mr. Ogdén in the matter you speak of. Judge Williams has gone out of office and, of course, can make no order in the case. Say to Mr. Ogdén to prepare such a paper as will meet the facts of the case and it shall be done with as he may suggest.'"

"Being thus unable to obtain relief from any quarter, Judge Ogdén was constrained to give over his attempts, and in this situation the matter rested until 1893. In that year Judge Ogdén's name was under consideration by Governor Markham for appointment to the position of judge of the Superior Court of Alameda county. Confronted by the case in the 31st volume of our report, his excellency appointed a commission, composed of the three judges of the Superior Court of Alameda county, to take proofs on the matter and report their findings to them. Such proofs were taken and the following findings were made:

The Heaviest Finding.

"The transaction which bears most heavily against the said Ogdén is found in the decision of the Supreme Court expressed in this language: "It had been agreed between Miller, Bargion and Kennedy that the latter should bid off the property in his own name, but it had also been agreed between Miller and Frank B. Ogdén that said Ogdén should attend the sale for the purpose of procuring the title to said mine, to be taken in his (Ogdén's) name. Ogdén attended the sale, and it was agreed between him and Kennedy that, for the purpose of deterring bidders, Ogdén should give public notice at the sale that the mine did not belong to said Oro Fino Corporation, but was the property of him (Ogdén). Such notice was accordingly given and the mine was bid in by Kennedy as before stated, but another complication arose. Ogdén volunteered his assistance to the justice of the peace to write out the certificate of sale, and inserted therein his own name as purchaser instead of that of Kennedy. This was not known to or discovered by the constable (Cline) of Kennedy."

The Findings.

"Upon these matters we make the following findings:

"Said Ogdén did attend the sale and give public notice that the mine did not belong to said Oro Fino Corporation, but was the property of him (Ogdén).

"This notice was given in the belief, honestly entertained by said Ogdén, that the title to said mine was in fact and in law in him, the said Ogdén, under the deed from Shenck. This belief was, at the time, shared by Kennedy, Bargion and Miller. There was no attempt to defraud the judgment creditor, Phelps, or prevent his obtaining from the sale the full amount of his judgment, and in fact, the full amount of his judgment and costs was bid, and the judgment creditor, Phelps, received all the money from the sale of the property to which he was entitled under his judgment.

"It is true that Ogdén volunteered his assistance to the justice to write out the certificate of sale, and inserted therein his own name as purchaser. It is not true that this was done without the knowledge of Kennedy or in fraud of Kennedy or Bargion, or in fraud of any person soever.

"We find that the said Ogdén volunteered his services merely as penman. That he wrote his name in the certificate of sale because it was the understanding and agreement between Miller, Bargion and Kennedy that he should do so, and here we proceed to a brief analysis of the testimony before us on this point.

"Manifestly there was no fraud and no impropriety in the said Ogdén writing his name in said certificate, if in fact it was understood between Kennedy, Bargion and Miller that the certificate should be issued in the name of Ogdén as purchaser.

"In conclusion, therefore, the judges of this court find that in none of the transactions mentioned or referred to in the Pekin Mill and Mining Company's suit, was the said Ogdén guilty of any fraud; but, to the contrary, his conduct throughout was entirely free from fraud and characterized by the best motives."

In their findings the Supreme Court justices say:

"The justices of the Supreme Court in none of the transactions mentioned or referred to in the Pekin Milling and Mining Company suit that Judge Ogdén was guilty of any fraud, but, on the contrary, that his conduct was entirely free from fraud and characterized by the best motives. The foregoing findings in the record before us are abundantly substantiated.

"Notwithstanding that the citizens of Alameda county have repeatedly expressed their conviction of Judge Ogdén's integrity by continuously and uninterruptedly electing him to the office of judge of the Superior Court, nevertheless the record of the case in the eighty-first volume of our reports stand and, unless corrected, will stand against him, his children and his children's children as a monument of infamy. For this reason and upon this showing he asks this court to afford him relief.

"The statements in the 31st Cal. were based, of course, exclusively on the findings made by the trial court. They were in no sense the result of an examination by this court, nor could they in any sense be construed as expressing the views of this court upon the matter.

It is manifest that the exoneration of Judge Ogdén upon the showing thus made is full and complete. This court also, from personal knowledge of Judge Ogdén, joins in the expression of confidence embodied in the findings of the judges of the Superior Court of Alameda county. But from the character and limits of the jurisdiction of this court, it is impossible for it to amend or correct the finding of the trial court, and so impossible for it to afford Judge Ogdén this specific form of relief.

"However, the publication of the foregoing must suffice for his complete exoneration."

UNEMPLOYED MEN TENDER THANKS

Hope They Will Never Again Be Forced to Such Extremes.

The headquarters of the unemployed on Jackson street, which have been in existence since the opening of the year and in which food and shelter were furnished to thousands of working people who were temporarily unable to find employment, were closed at noon today, the last occupant having been able to secure work and thus support himself. In the maintenance of this resort, the Mayor of this city, together with representatives of the several commercial organizations and public-spirited citizens, had a great deal to do, and for that assistance the following note of thanks and review of the movement was today sent to Mayor Muir at his office in the city hall:

"To His Honor, the Mayor of Oakland, members of committee for the unemployed, and the citizens of Oakland: Greeting: In tendering to you our heartfelt thanks for your assistance during the recent period of financial depression, it will perhaps be well to recall the trying times that we have just passed through. "While we sincerely hope it will never again be necessary to provide for the unemployed in Oakland, we hope that should the occasion arise, the same spirit of tolerance will prevail. "Kindly accept our sincere thanks and rest assured that we part from you with only memories of kindness. "Respectfully yours, "C. MANNING, Superintendent, "JOHN A. MACNAMARA, Clerk, "AND ONE HUNDRED OTHERS."

HIGHBINDER IS BEFORE A JURY

Attorney Philip M. Walsh Asks for the Life of a Noted Chinese.

Won Loung, a noted highbinder of the Hop Sing Tong, is on trial before Judge Ogdén and a jury today in the Superior Court on a charge of murder, accused of shooting Lee Chong, a Chinese. The case will probably be concluded late this evening.

Unusual interest has been manifested in the case by the Chinese residents of this city on account of the record of the defendant. The latter was convicted before Judge Lawlor in San Francisco of the crime of murder, and sentenced to ninety-nine years in prison. The Supreme Court granted a new trial owing to errors in the instructions of the court to the jury. Before the defendant could be tried a second time the earthquake and big fire occurred and the records in the case were destroyed, necessitating the release of the defendant.

Attorney Philip M. Walsh of the firm of Allen & Walsh this morning made the opening argument for the prosecution.

before the court that Judge Doelling would have to set aside the indictment against him. He referred to the immunity contracts of the Supervisors, and said:

"We have here the spectacle of sixteen Supervisors with their safe deposit boxes bulging with their filthy earnings and immunity contracts in their pockets, doubtless signed by Mr. Heney, while this defendant was told by Detective Burns, alias 'Tabasco,' that he would be treated as fairly as they. He was kept in a private prison and awakened up at all hours of the night to be questioned by these inquisitors."

After Murphy had been rebuked by Judge Doelling for referring to Burns as "alias 'Tabasco,'" he proceeded to state his firm belief in the validity of the immunity contract and, in quoting a Texas case, said that it had been sent to Ruef as an authority by Heney when the immunity contract was under negotiation.

"BLACK HAND" IS AGAIN EVIDENT

CHICAGO, April 2.—The "black-hand" terror hangs over Chicago's Italian colony again.

The police learned yesterday that Antonio Lumia, a jeweler and watchmaker, is threatened with the kidnapping of his son if he does not deliver $800 tonight at 8 o'clock at a stated place. Lumia's son, Luigi, is 11 years old.

Lumia reported to the police that he had received two threatening letters each signed with a black hand. One of these letters, which he received last Monday, was marked "last warning." The missives were written in Italian. Since his father received the letters, Luigi Lumia has been accompanied to and from school each day by his father or mother.

After school hours he is kept in his home under the eyes of his parents.

Lumia said last night that he had received several letters last fall demanding money under the penalty of his life, but he paid no attention to them.

Several times there have been mysterious knockings in his store under the pretense of looking at goods. One of them a week ago said: "Remember the vendetta in Naples five years ago," and then left the place. Lumia said he did not know what the words meant, although he was a member of a society in Italy at that time.

Detectives will be sent to Lumia's home tonight and will watch the residence in order to prevent any attack on his family or attempt to damage his home.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN ANSWERS LAST CALL

Robert McKay, a civil war veteran 80 years of age, died at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at 630 East Twelfth street after a continued illness. As no physician was in attendance at the time of death the coroner will hold an inquest.

McKay was a single man, was a native of Ireland. Arrangements for the funeral will be attended to by the members of Lyon Post, G. A. R., of which he was a member.

CONVENTION URGES SEVERAL NEW MEASURES

Endorses Fairbanks; Demands Revision of Tariff and Local Option Law.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2.—James E. Watson of Rushville was nominated for Governor by the Indiana Republican convention on the fifth ballot. Charles Miller withdrew his name and moved to make Mr. Watson's nomination unanimous. This was accomplished by the other candidates, and it carried with a great demonstration.

Watson is Representative of Congress of the Sixth Indiana district.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. April 2.—With its organization completed at its first session yesterday afternoon, the Indiana Republican State convention today adopted its platform, elected four delegates-at-large to the National convention and two National electors-at-large, instructed thirty Indiana delegates to the National convention to vote and work persistently for the nomination of Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks for the Presidency of the United States, and nominated a State ticket. The platform adopted, in addition to instructing for Vice-President Fairbanks, endorses President Roosevelt's administration, opposes corporation contributions to campaign funds, favors economy in public expenditures, especially in the army and navy, favors a modification of the financial system without mentioning any particular measure; urges a progressive program of labor legislation; pledges a complete reduction of capitalistic combination in the interest of trade, commerce and the general welfare of the people; and urges a revision of the tariff by a special session of Congress to be called early in November, with the recommendation that Congress

BRYAN TRIES TO CAPTURE POPULISTS' CONVENTION

Nebraskans and Michiganders May Bolt

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—The Populist national convention which was called for 10 a. m. today was somewhat behind that hour in commencing proceedings. The chief cause of this was the renewed efforts of the Bryan men to secure an agreement for an adjournment until after the Republican and Democratic conventions. They made strong arguments before the members of the national committee and also before the committee on credentials, but with no apparent effect, save to delay the proceedings. They backed up their demands for an adjournment by technicalities that some of the delegates present had been improperly chosen and that the entire call for the convention was illegal. They cited the case of Pennsylvania, which has 79 votes in the convention, while Watson in 1896 did not receive a single vote in the State. Other alleged irregularities in the system of representation were mentioned, but the Watson men stood firm and refused to listen to any proposition for an adjournment.

The determination of Nebraska and Michigan to hold the convention if the program of making nominations is carried out was unaltered today. E. A. Warrin, secretary of the Nebraska State committee, said today: "We do not propose to be trampled on and we are going to fight for our rights. We claim to represent more honest pure Populists than any other State. We will not be a party to any nominations and if they are made, and if an adjournment is not taken we will leave the convention."

take immediate steps to secure the proper data by experts. Would Abolish Child Labor.

A bureau of mines and waterways improvement is recommended. The abolition of child labor is demanded. Among the important State issues is a plank favoring a local option law, with the county as a unit, the law to be in addition and supplemental to the present laws regulating the liquor traffic. The tariff plank was written by Vice-President Fairbanks.

One of the most enthusiastic demonstrations of the day greeted the endorsement of Harry S. New, chairman of the Republican National committee, who occupied a seat as a delegate from Marion county.

Nominations for State officers were then called for. Six candidates had no opposition for a second nomination, being present State officers, and they were nominated by acclamation. They were:

For secretary of State, Fred A. Sims, Frankfort.

For auditor of State, John C. Billheimer, Washington.

For treasurer of State, Oscar Hadley, Plainfield.

For attorney-general, James Bling-ham, Milledale.

For reporter of the Supreme Court, George W. Self-Corndon.

For judge Appellate Court, David Myers, Greensburg.

The twenty-six district National delegates selected February 4, and district delegates were selected, and United States Senators Beveridge and Hemenway, Governor J. Frank Hanly and Chairman James P. Goudich of the State committee were elected National delegates-at-large.

The names of James E. Watson of Rushville, Charles W. Miller of Goshen, William L. Taylor of Indianapolis, and Hugh T. Miller of Columbus were presented to the convention for the nomination for governor.

The first ballot for governor resulted: Watson, 606 14-100; Taylor, 284 23-100; Hugh Miller, 184 23-100; Charles Miller, 82 30-100. Necessary to a choice, 736.

A second ballot was ordered.

MRS. CAMPBELL CLOSES AT MACDONOUGH TONIGHT

Famous English Actress Will Present
'Magda' as Her Farewell Performance in This City.

"Others have played Mrs. Tanqueray," said Ellen Terry recently, "but Mrs. Campbell is Mrs. Tanqueray." Thus, during the past 14 years, which may be said to be the term of Mrs. Campbell's real stage career, she has been identified with three or four of the only plays England has produced that will live on the stage. Mrs. Campbell brings to this country her own London company, with Ben Webster as leading man.

The visit of Mrs. Campbell, the greatest of English-speaking actresses, to Oakland was the most notable event of the season. Her appearance at the Macdonough Theater was without question an important theatrical and social event.

Mrs. Campbell is not only one of the great actresses of the world, ranking with Bernhardt and Duse, but she is quite a figure socially in London also. The work of no player of the present day has been more seriously or widely discussed than hers. Her engaging personality and marvelous though strange beauty, her extreme naturalness and dignified repose, compels the deepest interest and unfailing attention to her every movement.

Mrs. Campbell played "Hedda Gabler" last night to a large audience and was given an ovation.

Tonight she will play "Magda," which will end her engagement at the local playhouse. The advance sale of seats is large and the indication is that Mrs. Campbell will be given a splendid reception.

WILL PRESENT COMEDY.

The Conan and Harris comedians will present the New York, London and Chicago success, "Brewster's Millions," at the Macdonough next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

"Brewster's Millions" is a dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's novel of the same name. The play deals in the frankest manner imaginable with the improbable and the impossible, and this same frankness so takes the audience off its guard that the unreal becomes real, and the smile and bland good nature engulfs every one. Montgomery Brewster's grandfather dies and leaves him a round million. Then a western uncle passes away and wills the young man seven millions providing he spends the first bequest within twelve months. A list of queer conditions are tacked on the will, but "Monty," being a good-natured young chap, sees fun ahead and takes up the gauntlet.

Did you ever try to spend a million in a year? From the difficulties encountered by Brewster it would seem that the spending of ten hundred thousand dollars "legitimately" in 365 days is attended by greater hardships than is the saving of a similar amount. The action of the piece, as might be imagined, is rapid and intensely funny. The company for the most part is made up of young players equipped with the spirit of enthusiasm, the scenery is elaborate and massive, the lines are witty, the situations cleverly conceived, and the storm scene in the third act one of the most realistic ever conceived.

CONDITIONS IN HAYTI WORSE

Refugees, in Fear of Summary
Execution, Flee to French
Legation.

PARIS, April 2.—Advices received by the French government from Hayti indicate that the state of chaos which prevailed at Port Au Prince is accentuated by the strife among the negro factions there. The landing of troops from the foreign warships now in Haytian waters is expected if the lives of the white inhabitants should appear to be endangered.

Several additional refugees in fear of summary execution have fled to the French Legation where they have been given asylum.

SUSPECT POISON, DISINTER CORPSE

Some Members of Family Say
"White Liquid" Caused Man's Death.

CHICAGO, April 2.—In the belief that they have unearthed a possible counterpart of the case of Herman Billek, now awaiting execution here for the poisoning of several members of the Venzal family, county authorities today caused to be exhumed the body of Charles Stronor, a well-to-do Bohemian, whose death a month ago is alleged by some members of his family to have been due to a "white liquid" administered shortly before his death. Both Billek and Mrs. Stronor are alleged clairvoyants and said to be possessed of hypnotic powers. Both are Bohemians. The alleged motive for the supposed murder of Stronor is the same as that in the case of the Venzal family—the hope of profiting by the insurance on the lives of the victims.

CHARLES ARLING, NEW
BARITONE FOR IDORA
PARK.

HAROLD BAUER TO GIVE SPLENDID PROGRAM HERE

Pianist to Appear in Concert
Saturday Afternoon.

Harold Bauer, one of the greatest pianists the world has ever known, will give his only concert on this side of the bay at Ye Liberty Playhouse tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the time having been set at this hour to enable teachers and students to attend it.

Harold Bauer is looked upon as one of the truly great artists now before the public and like Fritz Kreisler, his programs are indisputable proof of his musicianship, in addition to his virtuosity. Bauer's concert for tomorrow follows:

(a) Rhapsodie in G Minor, Op. 22...Schumann
(b) Etude, Op. 10, No. 4...Chopin
(c) Fantasia

FAMOUS SINGER TO APPEAR AT IDORA

Charles Arling to Make Initial Bow Here in "The Tenderfoot."

Of more than ordinary interest in the news of the local stage is the announcement that Charles Arling, one of the most distinguished of American comic opera baritones, has been engaged as a member of the Idora Park Opera Company. Arling has been brought directly from New York where he has been under the management of the Shuberts. He will make his first appearance at Idora Park on the evening of April 13 in one of the principal roles of "The Tenderfoot" and in the opening performance of that dashing opera.

That Arling will be a favorite with the local public is certain, for everywhere he has sung in opera he has been received with enthusiasm. He has a splendid and resonant baritone voice and a bearing on the stage that comes of long, strict training. The other side of the footlights, his pronounced success as one of the stars in the "all star" cast of the Francis Wilson Company for the entire run of the beautiful "Erminie," and for two entire seasons he was the leading man for James T. Powers, the world famous comedian, in the presentation of the "Sho Gun" and "San Toy."

For a year and a half Arling has been with the Shuberts in New York. He went out of the metropolis with "The Tourist." The New York critics pronounced Arling the best comic opera baritone heard in recent years. Idora Park was fortunate in securing the services of the distinguished singer after he had come West for a vacation in California, the home of his boyhood. He is young and strong and has a fine, manly personality that will make him the idol of the local stage.

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin"

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others similarly ailing may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm-hearted wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by Osgood drug stores, 7th and Broadway and 12th and Washington streets.

MAUDIE AND NELLIE
DUNEDIN, TWIN SISTERS
AT THE OAKLAND ORPHEUM.

DUNEDIN TWINS TO MAKE DEBUT

Two tiny maidens, granddaughters of James E. Donegan, will make their first appearance as trick bicycle riders on the stage of the Oakland Orpheum next Saturday afternoon. The maiden crowd on that day will witness the debut in professional life of Miss Maude and Miss Nellie Dunedin—the "Dunedin" twin sisters.

James E. Donegan is known in Europe, Australia and America as the greatest trainer of athletes and bicyclists in the world. He was for years himself an accomplished performer and now his fame is being perpetuated by his sons and daughters. They make up the great Dunedin troupe of acrobats and trick cyclists. The troupe is one of the star cards at the Oakland Orpheum this week.

THELMA ATTRACTS AT YE LIBERTY THEATER

"Thelma," which is being presented by the Bishop players at Ye Liberty Playhouse, this week, is meeting with phenomenal success, due no doubt, to the fact that it is taken from one of the most popular and widely read books published in the past twenty years. It was written by Marie Corelli, and is probably the best liked of all her romances; certainly no love story is more crowded with love and passion than "Thelma," and this quality alone, if handled properly, insures the success of a novel.

Clayton Legge, who prepared the story for stage use, has followed the main incidents of the story closely and retained all its charming features. He has succeeded admirably in retaining the atmosphere of the northland which was so fascinating to the reader—one seems to breathe the air of the Norway pines and to live in a world far distant from our own.

The stage pictures of "Thelma" show the romantic Alfenford, where the mystic pagan lived with his beautiful daughter Thelma, and where Sir Philip Errington found her and loved her. The Bishop players are seen in all the familiar characters that played so important part in Thelma's life—drama, and Miss Walshear has painted some effective scenes, full of Norse character.

Miss Marion Barney in the title role is charming, satisfying all who have formed an ideal of that character, and Landers Stevens as Sir Philip Errington, her lover, is seen to excellent advantage. E. L. Renshaw has caught the spirit of Thelma's pagan father, Olaf Guldmar, and his appearance is a striking picture of the old Viking who sailed the seas. One of the best performances of the play is given by Jack Sheehan, who appears as the mad Sigurd, and who plays the difficult role with telling effect. Henry C. Mortimer as Sir Francis Lennox, George Friend as George Lorrimer, Henry Shumer as the Rev. Mr. Dycerworthy, George Webster as Pierre Dupes, Blanche Douglas as Lady Clara Winslow, Edith Elliot as Ursula Junken, George Knowlton as Lady Ellaland and George Cooper as Britta complete an unusually strong cast.

"Thelma" is to be given for the remainder of this week only, with the regular Saturday and Sunday matinees, and will be followed by "The City Way," with Landers Stevens as Sydney Carlton.

Twins who have been taught a few neat tricks by their grandpa are so made their entry into public life. Two tiny bicycles have been constructed especially for them and on these wheels they will perform at the matinee next Saturday afternoon, appearing on the stage for a few minutes while the regular act of the big Dunedin troupe is on.

MAY INVOKE STATE AID IN SANITARY FIGHT

Mayor Stands by Scavengers in Their Efforts to Dump Garbage.

BERKELEY, April 2.—Following the stoppage of the scavengers by armed men and women of the Ocean View district yesterday afternoon the Board of Trustees this morning decided to call on Sheriff Barnett for protection to the city streets. Mayor Parsons, Mayor Ferrier, after consultation with the board and the members of the Board of Health, concluded that the issue should be forced and that the scavengers must not be molested except through proper process.

"The people of Ocean View must not stop men on the highways with guns or intimidate them," said the Mayor. "I will at once ask the authorities to take steps to give protection for the drivers. The question of nuisance of damage to the property in the neighborhood can be determined by regular legal process."

Many Invoke State Help.

There is talk of asking the state authorities to take charge of the situation on the ground that the health of a city is menaced and that the emergency demands extreme measures. The State Board of Health inaugurated the present sanitary crusade and the officers of the board are of the opinion that they have about reached the limit of their own endeavors are inclined to seek aid in higher quarters. The state, as a whole, would not be inclined to condemn property in dispute on the ground that the interests of a great majority of the community demanded it and the state would not be inclined to sue frequently. Attorneys will be consulted regarding such a measure, in case other efforts to keep the road to the boarded property open, prove futile. The state would not be inclined to sue View this morning. After the exciting day of yesterday the people, on a warning from Sheriff Barnes, have laid aside their weapons and are waiting and will depend upon the courts for results.

Gives View of Club.

"This is a law-abiding community," said John O'Brien of the defense committee of the Ocean View Improvement Club. "We do not want the country to believe we are rioters and brawlers. We simply demand the Berkeley find a dumping ground within its own limits. If we for a moment should carry our own refuse into Berkeley, we would be in jail in a fifty. The wealthy people of Berkeley, now utilizing the city's refuse, are confronted with a serious sanitary question, would solve it by emptying their garbage cans in our district. No one with any sense of justice can blame us for the stand we have taken. We have a number of mothers and children here. The women folk are excited last the coming of the scavengers bring disease in our midst, and we have thus risen in a mass to defend our homes and our families."

Joe Birella, head of the scavengers, said this morning that he would continue dumping until stopped by the courts. Birella said that he had been assured protection by the officers and would continue at work until the property owners proved their case in court.

Unforeseen Complications.

Unforeseen complications arose today when it was learned that the San Francisco Chemical Works, owner of the boneyard property, might cancel the permission to dump on their grounds. The officers of the chemical works fear the attitude of the people in their neighborhood.

Asks for Injunction.

W. M. Wright, residing on San Pablo avenue near Maria street, in this city, filed a petition today through his attorneys, Allen & Walsh, asking for an injunction to prevent Joseph Birella and his employees from dumping garbage in the Ocean View district. Wright will ask for a restraining order pending the hearing of his petition for an injunction.

PROPRIETOR BARS
EVELYN THAW
FROM CAFE

Is Ordered Out of Knickerbocker
Grill-room in Company With
E. R. Thomas.

NEW YORK, April 2.—That E. R. Thomas and Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, while at supper early Tuesday morning in the grill-room of the Hotel Knickerbocker, were requested to leave the hotel by James B. Regan, the proprietor, and that after a debate they obeyed, became known yesterday. Their departure was made in the presence of two hotel detectives.

Mrs. Thaw, late last night, issued a denial of the story of elopement and blamed it all on a "double." She said that there is in New York a young woman described by her as "an actress or something," whose resemblance to her has caused a great deal of trouble.

"If these stories about him and me continue I'll go out in Sixth avenue and stand on my head and give the newspapers something truthful to write about."

CHICAGO, April 2.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw will be given another chance to enter upon a stage career if she accepts an offer which will be made to her today in New York. Two young Chicago authors and producers, Will Hough and Frank Adams, are fostering the movement.

The authors have written a musical extravaganza in which she is played in the leading role. Whether Mrs. Thaw has accepted or declined the proposition to star in the play is not known.

FAMOUS REFEREE WINS IN FIGHT OVER ORPHAN CHILD

Girl Given Choice of Homes and Selects George Siler's.

CHICAGO, April 2.—After six months of waiting, George Siler, veteran ring referee, was yesterday awarded the custody of Rose, an eleven-year-old girl whose parents were killed in the San Francisco disaster. The child chose the Siler's for her foster parents in favor of others who were trying to obtain her for their own.

Siler secured the girl from a San Francisco orphan asylum after the big fire and brought her to his home in this city. Some time afterward the Siler's departed for Florida, meanwhile leaving their protegee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Bennett. The Bennetts became attached to Rose and upon the Siler's return refused to give her up.

A writ of habeas corpus was obtained from the courts and Judge Kavanaugh ordered that the child remain with the Bennetts for six months and at the end of the period, choose in which home she would stay for the rest of her life. The six months expired yesterday and Rose decided to return to the Siler's.

George G. Gage, son of Stephen T. Gage of 1309 Harrison street, announces himself a candidate for the assembly on the Republican ticket from the Fifteenth Assembly District.

Mr. Gage has been prominent in Republican politics for some time. He is a graduate of Stanford University and since then he has had excellent business training. Mr. Gage was connected with the Oakland Bank of Savings for a time and at present is a deputy in the city assessor's office. He is a brother-in-law of City Assessor George Gross. He has a wide circle of friends in his district.

COUNTY FUNDS ON THE INCREASE

Amount Will Probably Swell to
$100,000 Before Tax Settlement
Is Complete.

The last balance of county money was taken March 1 and in that count the county general fund is credited with a balance on hand of $1845. Since that time money has been apportioned to the fund and today there is over $11,000 in the fund.

On March 2 Tax Collector Barber paid into the fund $10,000. This month fees from the different offices will amount to about $700 and interest on county money in the various banks will bring into the fund over $4200. Probably tomorrow the Tax Collector will turn into the county treasury part of the money collected on second installment of taxes delinquent first installments, etc., which, when apportioned, will again swell the money in that particular fund and all county funds. The general fund alone will probably take on $100,000 before the tax settlement is complete. Bills for the current year are being taken care of and paid. Bills for the last fiscal year are not paid because the tax delinquency was heavier than ever before and the District Attorney is now in court trying to recover some $100,000 of that '06 money.

The bill passed for $10,000 will be paid, for the money will be there to pay it with. The bill will be registered with the County Treasurer and estimated in the county's outstanding indebtedness.

HOW THEY RUN
N. Y. PRIMARIES

Voter Tells How the Names of Parties Are Segregated
by Ballot.

Editor TRIBUNE: In New York City the way that the lists are prepared for the use of the different parties at the primaries are as follows: When a voter registers for the regular election he is handed a large envelope, which contains a large piece of paper like this:

He marks it as above and puts the paper in the envelope and seals it up. This he does the same as if marking a ballot in a booth. He comes out, hands the envelope to the officers of the election board who deposit it in a box like a ballot box; this box is returned by those district election officers to the main board of election. Later on, and after election and before the next primary, lists are arranged for each party from these envelopes, which are then opened. A person who does not mark his declaration is not placed in any party list and cannot vote at the primary when it is held, perhaps a year later.

These lists are scrutinized by the different election captains of each party when the primaries are near at hand next year and names that are found to have changed their residence outside of the election district are filed in court and after a notice has been sent and the citizen fails to appear to retain his name on the list the court orders it struck off the primary list for removal or other cause. The voters at the primary can only vote at the primary election at the place designated for Democrats, Republicans, Municipal League, or whatever party their name appears on their list as having stated when he registered for general election that he wished to affiliate with that party.

Each party has a different polling place and consequently the booths are separate and distinct. A VOTER.

On Duplicating Indictments.

An example of the peculiar, furtive methods of the Spreckels prosecution is furnished by the arraignment of Tiley L. Ford on duplicate indictments in the trolley deal coincidentally with the attempt to bring him to trial for a third time on the old indictments found by the Oliver grand jury. After being tried twice and acquitted once on charges involving the same transaction and the same presentation of facts, General Ford is reindicted for precisely the offense alleged in the prior indictments immediately antecedent to bringing him again to trial on another of the old presentments. By thus proceeding the other defendants in the trolley cases, and Calhoun in particular, are denied a speedy hearing while duplicate indictments are piled up against them.

If the indictments returned by the Oliver grand jury are invalid, it is proof of the incompetence of Heney and his associates in the special prosecution. Moreover, if they are so vitally defective that they will not stand judicial examination they should be dismissed; indeed, they should have been quashed when the defense originally demurred to them.

What is the object of finding duplicate indictments while continuing to try Ford on the old indictments? If it is proper to return duplicate indictments for the same offense why is it not proper to find three, four, or a dozen indictments on one and the same charge? A man can only be convicted once for a single offense. Why should Ford, or any other man for that matter, be tried on one indictment and reindicted on the same charge? If the first indictment is good why bring in the second? If the first is invalid, why go through the expensive farce of holding a protracted trial under it?

But why make Ford the special object of pursuit when the prosecution admits that it is Patrick Calhoun, his employer, that they are really after? For months Calhoun has been vainly asking for a trial, while Ford has been tried twice and is now being hurried to a third trial on precisely the same evidence on which one jury acquitted him and another came within one of acquitting him. Not only this, but duplicate indictments are piled up against him on the very evidence that once acquitted him.

This may be fair play, but it does not wear that aspect. It may be in accordance with the ethics and equities of law, but we doubt it. When asked for a copy of the testimony on which the duplicate indictments were found, Deputy District Attorney O'Gara said none was taken. The inference is that the present grand jury read the evidence presented by the Oliver grand jury and found therein duplicated the indictments found by the latter body. To the layman this looks like an extraordinary and unusual proceeding. What is its object and what its justification? It is an innovation for one grand jury to indict on testimony taken by a former grand jury, but it is a still more singular and perplexing one for the latter body to duplicate indictments on the testimony on which a previous body had returned indictments for the same offense.

However, the Spreckels prosecution is a law unto itself and resorts to expedients denominated by the bench and bar everywhere as dishonorable and unfair shysterism.

The San Francisco Bulletin prints an endorsement by the Bar Association of Judge Dooling's candidacy for the Appellate bench as a proof of his fairness in the Older and Ruef cases. Judges Cooper and Hall were endorsed by the San Francisco Bar Association at the same time as Judge Dooling, but that endorsement has never deterred the Bulletin and the other Spreckels organs from assailing their judicial honor and integrity. However, the endorsement as a candidate given Dooling by the Bar Association in 1906 is no proof that his rulings in the Older and Ruef cases were fair and impartial. Judge Dooling has decided himself to be fair and unbiased and the higher court has sustained him. His determination to stick as Judge Dunne's substitute, however, shows him to be lacking in delicacy and judicial dignity. Although he may not be legally disqualified his actions and words do not convince one that he is not a prejudiced partizan. In asserting his fairness he took occasion to again say he disapproved of the decisions rendered by the Appellate and Supreme Courts in the Schmitz case. This case concerned Ruef as much as it did Schmitz. In public gatherings he denounced Ruef as a scoundrel prior to the plea of guilty Ruef entered in the French restaurant case. This opinion was entertained by thousands of others, but its public expression by a judge on the bench negatives the idea that the man who expressed it is qualified to preside fairly and impartially at the trial of the person so denounced.

Kentucky's New Racing Laws.

In old Kentucky, where betting on a horse race is regarded as nearer a virtue than a crime, the Legislature has just passed a bill, the violation of which imposes a heavy penalty on poolroom-keepers. It is the broadest of all the racing laws in that it practically legalizes race track betting by prohibiting wagers made on horse races not made on the tracks. It is true Kentucky spirit which actuated this law reaching beyond all hypocrisy.

The laws recently made part of the New York state fighting racing will in effect only popularize poolroom betting while it cuts down the wagering at race tracks.

In Kentucky it is a citizen's paramount duty to idolize pretty women, cultivate a taste for good whisky and back a favorite in the Derby. There is a nice distinction to be drawn in all these laws. With plenty of laws nothing results.

Heney admits that it makes a big difference whose goat is gored.

SYSTEM OFFERED BY BISHOP FALLOWS TO REUNITE ALL ESTRANGED COUPLES

Troubles All Arise From Habit of Disbelief.

CHICAGO, April 2.—In a sermon last night on "The Psychology of Doubt," Bishop Samuel Fallows explained for the first time in public his system for reuniting estranged married couples. The method used is simple, but the bishop declares that he has used it successfully. Bishop Fallows said the trouble with most doubters or unbelievers is that they will not put themselves in a position to believe.

"What the will can do is to create by auto-suggestion a will in the subconsciousness to continue in love or to believe. This I make use of in my efforts to reunite people who have entered into the holy bonds of matrimony and who

They say that love is blind, and this is to be taken in a limited sense as blind to faults. Nothing in the whole world is more keensighted to see good qualities. You are blind to the good and taking a magnifying glass to the faults. Go back into the past and think of the way you sacrificed and toiled to make the home. ROBERTSON NEEDS HELP IN N. Y. CITY

Former S. F. Bank Secretary Aged and Broken in Health, It Is Said.

NEW YORK, April 2.—John Dalzell Robertson, assistant secretary of the defunct California Safe Deposit and Trust Company of San Francisco, who fled when the great crash of that institution came, was in New York yesterday. It is said, aged, broken in health and on the threshold of starvation. It is said he sought to sell, for enough to supply his immediate needs, the secrets of the looting of the bank. After the failure Robertson disappeared and was not heard of again until found here yesterday. The district attorney of San Francisco has stated that he knew the whereabouts of Robertson and could lay hands on him when wanted.

Robertson declared that if found by any representative of the district attorney's office it would be impossible to get him back to San Francisco. He said he would leap from the train or ferry boat. Still he declares he did not share in the bank's looting and has no reason for shielding any one. He was left to look out for himself, and says he is now in distress.

"I have nothing but the kindest feeling for my foster-brother (Brown) and others under indictment in San Francisco," said Robertson. "But my first duty is toward myself and my wife, who has gone back to San Francisco to try and save what we honestly had from my earnings."

Wanted for Embezzlement.—A warrant was issued yesterday by Judge Cabanis for the arrest of Ole Gleson, a clerk at the Lick House, at Fifth and Mission streets, on a charge of felony embezzlement. The complaint was sworn to by F. W. Richmond, the proprietor of the hotel, who alleges that Gleson embezzled $200 in money from a guest of the hotel, Mrs. Jane Van Noy.

Bankrupts Ask Relief.—Philip Kohn, a bookkeeper, has asked to be declared a bankrupt. His liabilities are $534.54 and his assets nil. Scheduling his liabilities as $1931 and his assets as $708.19, L. C. Merham, a Mill Valley merchant, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court.

Milk Company Fined.—The San Francisco Cream Depot, a corporation, was fined $25 yesterday by Judge Shortall on a charge of violating the State milk law, which provides that milk shall contain a certain percentage of solids not fats.

DR. PARDEE AND THE BUBONIC PLAGUE

Editor TRIBUNE.—In the evening edition of the Oakland TRIBUNE I notice that a difficulty "or difference of opinion" occurred between Councilman Meese and Dr. Pardee, and that Dr. Pardee laid special stress on the destroying of rats to avoid the Bubonic plague. Now I would like to ask if the Bubonic plague is any worse menace than the Pardee plague that was incited and launched on the people in 1895 at the Hayward Republican Convention and if it can do more to depopulate the country than did Dr. Pardee by his action at that convention. Respectfully, GEORGE W. FURRY, 415 Fifteenth St., Oakland, Oakland, March 31, 1908

MONEY

In every community there is enough money in hiding to start a reputable bank.

This money is not only liable to be lost by theft or fire, but it is placed where it does not bring in any income to the holder—neither is it of any use to the public.

Deposit this "dead" money with us. Then it will get into circulation and be of some benefit to yourself and to the community.

The more money there is in circulation the cheaper the rate of interest: the easier it is to borrow, and the more prosperous the general business conditions.

THIS BABY CAME HIGH

A girl baby was born yesterday at the summit of Tamapals to the wife of R.

Fisher, the United States weather bureau observer stationed at the top of the mountain. This is the first time that the stork has ever stopped there, and Alexander McAdie, head of the weather bureau in these parts, takes the visit as a special compliment to the service.

"Babies come high, anyway," the average meteorologist," he said yesterday, "but this little girl breaks the record, having made her advent here a mile above the level of the sea. The baby and her mother are well and the father so proud and excited that I am half afraid to take his figures today as reliable factors in working out my forecast. If it rains tomorrow blame the stork that left the baby in a wind-swept weather observatory half a mile up in the air."

The news reached Professor McAdie over the telephone.

LESLIE CARTER ENDS HIS BUSINESS LIFE

CHICAGO, April 2.—Leslie Carter, once prominent in Chicago's business world and who for months has been on the verge of death at his Cass-street residence, ceased his connection with the Chicago Canal and Dock Company yesterday. His condition is most critical. He was retired as a director and president of the company. He was prominent as president of the South Side Elevated Railroad Company, which position he held for years.

irate MOTHER KIDNAPS BRIDE FROM HUBBY'S ARMS TO SOUTH AMERICA

NEW YORK, April 2.—Joseph Raymond, who eloped March 11 with Miss Ted Corsette, of Sam Bernard's "Nearly a Hero" company, is looking for his wife.

The young woman's mother took forcible possession of her shortly after the ceremony and the best information Raymond has is that they have sailed for their former home in the Argentine Republic.

Off the stage, Miss Corsette is Thereso Cabrie. She came from Buenos Ayres with her parents a couple of years ago and a little later began her stage career as a chorus girl. Up to date she hasn't been graduated.

Raymond and Raymond fell in love immediately after Bernard's company opened at the Casino, and decided that, inasmuch as Mrs. Cabrie thought her daughter far too young to marry, they would save trouble by eloping.

So they got into an automobile, sped to Newark and the knot was tied by Judge Lozier.

When the couple returned and broke the news to mother they met a reception that was chilly, to say the least.

Mrs. Cabrie, who is of Spanish extraction, declared that a marriage performed by a justice of the peace was no marriage at all, according to her way of thinking, and demanded that a religious ceremony be performed. Until such time she refused to deliver her daughter to her husband.

9 Worse Than 13 For This Woman

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—Thirteen long regarded as the freak numeral, has found a worthy rival. It is the number nine. To Mrs. Jennie Weinstein, of 533 South street, the figure nine has a greater and more important significance than any other numeral. To her in the thirty-nine years of her life it has been the synonym for both good and bad luck.

Thirty-nine years ago she was born on the ninth day of the ninth month. She is now 4 feet 9 inches in height, and weighs ninety-nine pounds. Her wedding day was on January 9, 1889, and her husband died nine years later, leaving her with a 9-month-old daughter. Nineteen months later she was taken ill with fever and was bedfast for nine weeks.

While she recovered she lost her sight, and has since been dependent on charity. Yesterday morning at 9 o'clock her daughter Zetta, 9 years old, died at the Pennsylvania Hospital, leaving the blind mother alone in the world without a living relative or close friend.

Noblewoman in Role of Ballet Dancer

To her many accomplishments Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson has now added that of ballet dancing. Lady Constance has been attending the classes of Mme. Cavallazzi-Mapleson, the famous mistress of the ballet in Covent Garden, and, donning the usual costume, has been initiated into the mysteries of the profession. Lady Constance is said to have a perfect genius for the art, and it is hoped to devote the time to it she might become one of the most exquisite exponents of ballet dancing ever seen. Unconventional to a degree, Lady Constance is a noted sportswoman. She is a champion lady swimmer, a fisherman who has landed many a salmon, and an unerring shot, and when in Scotland it amuses her to go out shooting clad in Mackenzie tartan kilt and wearing a tam-o'-shanter. Before her marriage in 1904 Lady Constance spent many months shooting in the Rockies, where, absolutely alone except for her guides, she camped out. Dressed in breeches and coat, with a cap on her short, dark hair, she looked exactly like a slim, boyish man.—London Tit-Bits.

Presents Should Bear Bride's Name

Wedding presents are still most properly marked with the bride's maiden initials, notwithstanding current vagaries to use the initials of the bridegroom. "No," said a jeweler, "we observe no tendency to change this established custom. Now and then some one prefers to have the bride's future initials engraved. This has always been done to a very slight extent. It marks no new fancy. But, with few exceptions, we still mark all wedding presents with the maiden initials of the bride, and this is still generally conceded to be the correct mode."

SOCIETY MAIDEN INTRODUCES FAT GIRL'S WALK

From Newport comes a rather amusing winter tale that speaks of the popularity of Miss Polly French among the natives, says Town Topics. I need hardly explain that Miss Polly's proportions are rather heroic, which is a tremendous source to her humbler sisters, whose only similarity to the society belle is similar don of over-generous Nature. As a consequence, "all the fat girls in town," says my truthful informant, "have taken to copying her culture, enormous hats, short skirts and even her walk, one particularly bright example being a girl whose only acquaintance with society is over the counter in a Thomas street shop, who is known as the Tub, and who boasts openly that she copies Miss Polly, and when she sails to work down the narrow sidewalk, those who see her sufficiently in perspective wonder what the device brought that young lady to town so early in the morning. Of course everybody in Newport knows everybody else, and so it is that the Tub's greatest pleasure is to have her customers, while they are looking for bargains and samples, comment upon her resemblance to Miss French." Such is fame, and even the humble have their little vanities and ambitions.

Will Signed With Her 'Lifeless Hand'

NEW YORK, April 2.—Surrogate Beckett refused to probate the will of Mrs. Susan M. Cation, wife of General Thomas Cation, bequeathing all of her property, valued at $15,000, to "my beloved niece, Emily Randall, and my beloved nephew, John Hepenstall," and naming Hepenstall as sole executor.

The will was made at 2 a. m., three hours before Mrs. Cation's death, while her husband was asleep on another floor. The beneficiaries drew it, and signed it as witnesses.

The facts led Surrogate Beckett to arraign the man and woman as "possibly making the instrument with the dead hand of the dying woman, suggesting to ears that were no longer sensible to earthly sounds, and seeking compensation of their acts from lips that were only occasionally able to murmur deliciously."

THIS IS A PICTURE OF MRS. GEO. BRONSON HOWARD, WHO, AS MISS DORIS SKINNER, WAS A NOTED BALTIMORE BEAUTY. SHE HAS RECENTLY OBTAINED A DEGREE OF ABSOLUTE DIVORCE. SHE WAS MARRIED LESS THAN A YEAR, WHEN THERE CAME A BREAK IN DOMESTIC RELATIONS.

CHICAGO, April 2.—"Solid gold wedding ring, 13 carat; catalogue number 265," called the purser in a monotone. The sale was on at the State Pawnshop, Society rooms, Clark and Washington streets.

He rolled the little gold band down the glass counter to the auctioneer and registered a big check with his pencil after the corresponding number on the list sheet he held.

"A solid gold wedding ring, the latest pattern, not worn a bit," called the auctioneer, and half a dozen eager hands, some bony and lank, some short and fat, reached out across the counter for it.

Outside the circle formed by a dozen or so of the most enthusiastic bidders a woman with a light shawl over her head, her worn dress of a dingy brown hanging loosely about her waist, made a frantic effort to get a look at the ring. She reached her hand into the group of men and asked to see the ring. No one seemed to hear her.

"Let the lady see the ring," called the auctioneer sternly.

"As it was placed in her hands bids from the group of men broke like a storm. They fairly pommelled one another in frantic efforts to get the recognition of the auctioneer.

"Two-fifty," "I'll make it three," "four dollars," came the medley of shouts.

Heart Torn by Highest Bid.

SHATTERED ROMANCES Revealed in PAWN SHOP SALE

CHICAGO, April 2.—"Solid gold wedding ring, 13 carat; catalogue number 265," called the purser in a monotone. The sale was on at the State Pawnshop, Society rooms, Clark and Washington streets.

He rolled the little gold band down the glass counter to the auctioneer and registered a big check with his pencil after the corresponding number on the list sheet he held.

"A solid gold wedding ring, the latest pattern, not worn a bit," called the auctioneer, and half a dozen eager hands, some bony and lank, some short and fat, reached out across the counter for it.

Outside the circle formed by a dozen or so of the most enthusiastic bidders a woman with a light shawl over her head, her worn dress of a dingy brown hanging loosely about her waist, made a frantic effort to get a look at the ring. She reached her hand into the group of men and asked to see the ring. No one seemed to hear her.

"As it was placed in her hands bids from the group of men broke like a storm. They fairly pommelled one another in frantic efforts to get the recognition of the auctioneer.

"Two-fifty," "I'll make it three," "four dollars," came the medley of shouts.

Heart Torn by Highest Bid.

"Five dollars," piped the voice of the woman.

"Seven," called a man with swarthy complexion and a black mustache as he turned on the woman, rubbing the ring.

"Sold for $7," returned the auctioneer, pointing to the highest bidder.

"Hand up the money."

The purchaser stepped out of the crush of bidders. He examined the inside of the ring as the woman peered over his shoulder.

"J-e-n-n-i-e," he spelled slowly, "1885." Oh, I thought it was a new ring," indignantly.

"Yes, it's thirteen years old," ventured the woman timidly. "It was my wedding ring."

"That so?" reflected the man with a sort of grunt. "You ought to have bid another five for it and you would have got it," thrusting the ring into his pocket.

The woman turned, gathered the shawl about her head, and left the room. A man wearing a slouch hat and a shabby suit of clothes awaited her in the hall. He took up inquiringly.

"No, I didn't get it. I had only $5 you know. A man told it in for $7," tears gushing from her eyes.

"How about the watch?" the man asked in a whisper.

The woman shook her head disconsolately, and the two left the building.

"Cheer up, Jen," said the man with a semblance of cheer in his voice. "It's hard luck, but—" He didn't seem to have any excuse.

End of Shattered Romances.

Many a little romantic tragedy was represented in the long list of jewelry "knocked down" to the highest bidder. An old Swiss movement, key wind watch said to be 100 years old, sold for $15.

"It probably cost $200," said the purchaser, "but it's worth the gold in the case anyhow."

The catalogue showed a dozen wedding rings. As there always is a good sale for them, the jobbers bid frantically whenever one was up for sale.

PINNED IN WRECK; HAS LEG CUT OFF WITH POCKET KNIFE

SAVED FROM SCALDING BY HAVING LIMB SEVERED

"Get an Ax," Cries the Suffering Man

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
ST. LOUIS, April 2.—Five men were injured, three seriously, in a rear-end collision today at Spanish Lake, fifteen miles north of St. Louis, between a freight train and Burlington passenger train No. 24. The caboose of the freight and the engine of the passenger train were wrecked.
J. A. McKittick, a stockman of Brookfield, Mo., was pinned under the wreckage by his leg, which was nearly crushed off at the knee. Scalding steam from the passenger locomotive was enveloping him and to save McKittick's life the Rev. R. C. Allen of Grove City, Pa., cut off the leg with a pocket knife.
With the scalding steam pouring upon him, McKittick pulled out his knife and handed it to Allen and commanded the minister to cut off the crushed leg.
Mrs. Emma Renner, a trained nurse from Cincinnati, a passenger, pressed a bottle of whisky to McKittick's lips and told him to drink. The steam increased. "Cut off that leg. I can't stay here and die," shouted McKittick.
Allen began cutting at the tendons with the knife. It was dull and McKittick suffered intense agony.
"Throw it away and get an ax," he finally cried out. But Allen continued and finally severed the tendons.
McKittick was carried into a car, where Mrs. Renner made a tourniquet of her veil and staunching the flow of blood and then gave him opiates. Later he was brought to a St. Louis hospital.
The Rev. Mr. Allen, who performed the amputation, is a covenant minister 60 years of age.
Mrs. Renner, who was bruised in the wreck, was en route to her home in Cincinnati from the State of Washington.

GOULD WILL ENDEAVOR TO FORESTALL MARRIAGE

Legal Proceedings May Be Instituted

NEW YORK, April 2.—George J. Gould and the other executors of the will of the late Jay Gould have given up all hope of dissuading Mrs. Anna Gould from marrying the Prince de Sagan. There was evidence today that they are quietly clearing the way to take legal steps to prevent the marriage, and if that fails, to attempt to enforce a penalty clause in the Gould will against heirs who marry without consent.
Convinced that the family will never accept Prince Helle, Mrs. Gould is hastening her preparations for an early return to France. The Prince said tonight that he would probably sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm II on next Tuesday, two days earlier than he intended. It is not unlikely that Mrs. Gould will book passage on La Provence, the French liner, which sails on April 9.
That Mrs. Gould has been in the hands of receivers since 1901 was brought out today in a court proceeding to reimburse George Gould for $52,000 which he advanced to Edmond Kelly and former Judge John F. Dillon for fees in connection with Mrs. Gould's divorce from Count Boni de Castellane.
Years to Pay Debts.
George Gould and his sister, Miss Helen M. Gould, are the official receivers and it will be several years before the

Blazing a Trail for the Tammany Braves

NEW YORK, April 2.—Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, is on his way to Denver to secure hotel accommodations for the Tammany host which will go to the Democratic national convention. Secretary Smith will engage rooms for 800 persons. Tammany expects to carry out more, but they will

AUDITOR ENFORCES DEAD LETTER RULE

Will Save Money for Taxpayers and Beneficiaries by Wills.

County Auditor Pierce, after holding a consultation with Superior Judge W. H. Waste, has decided to enforce the rule in his office which will be welcomed by the tax payers and those interested in estates now being probated in the superior courts of this county. Though already established by law since 1905, it has generally been disregarded.
The rule does away with appraisers of the collateral inheritance tax where a bulk of the estate is in land or money, the value of which is determined by the State laws regulating the amount of tax payable as also the exemptions for widows, husbands, children and other relatives and beneficiaries.
Hereafter on presentation or filing of an appraisal or upon distribution of the estate in probate and the value of the inheritance is uncertain and where there is a great variety of holdings, the appointment of an appraiser is absolutely necessary. These appraisers heretofore have been appointed by court on a per diem fee which is charged against the State. Their duties are merely to determine the value of the property which is to be distributed to the heirs.
In large estates and when the value of the inheritance is uncertain and where there is a great variety of holdings, the appointment of an appraiser is absolutely necessary. These appraisers heretofore have been appointed by court on a per diem fee which is charged against the State. Their duties are merely to determine the value of the property which is to be distributed to the heirs.
This will result in saving thousands of dollars to the State of California when estates are to be distributed, as quickly appears when State Controller A. B. Nye shows that Alameda county pays more for commissions and costs of determining collateral inheritance taxes than San Francisco.

DEATH SWEEPS TRAVELS WORLD WITH PRAIRIE FIRE WITH TABBY CAT

Rancher and Hundreds of Cattle Lose Lives in Flames.

PAXTON, Neb., April 2.—A prairie fire has been raging in the sand hills for two days. James Kane is known to have been burned. Many houses were destroyed, hundreds of head of livestock were lost and thousands of acres of prairie burned.
The fire started Tuesday. All day Wednesday a fifty-mile wide blow and the blaze swept across the prairie with tremendous speed. Blazing embers were carried ten miles in advance of the flames in places.
The sky was so black with smoke that ranchmen were unable to locate the fire until the blaze was upon them. As rapidly as possible ranchers plowed safety furrows around their buildings, but in many cases the flames reached them before the plowing was completed.
This happened in the case of James Kane, a ranchman, north of Paxton, and Kane, together with his home and all his live stock, was burned. Grave fears are held for the safety of other ranchers.

$50,000 TO Y. M. C. A. GIVEN BY RICH WOMAN

$205,000 Now Donated Toward the Million Dollar Fund.

CHICAGO, April 2.—The fourth lift toward the million-dollar mark was given the Y. M. C. A. of Chicago yesterday by a donation of $50,000, which raises the total already subscribed to $205,000.
The latest contribution was made by Mrs. Nellie M. McCormick, Harold F. McCormick and Cyrus H. McCormick.
The subscriptions previously received to the fund were as follows:
John G. Shea, $100,000; W. A. Wheelock, $50,000; and Mrs. T. B. Blackstone, $25,000.
Sentenced for Assault.—Lars Rago, charged with assaulting Einar Capling, a boy, was sentenced to three months in the County Jail this morning by Superior Judge F. B. Ogden. Rago pleaded guilty and asked for clemency.

PRESIDENT CASTRO REFUSES TO ACCEDE TO DEMANDS

Venezuela's Ruler Will Not Arbitrate

CARACAS, March 29, via Williamstadt, April 2.—President Castro's official organ, El Constitucional, publishes a report of Venezuela's answer to Secretary Root's last note reiterating the secretary's previous demand for the arbitration of the live American claims. These are the words of the Venezuelan minister of foreign affairs to Minister Russell:
"The government of Venezuela refuses, for the time being, to take under consideration the insinuation made in your note because up to now, Mr. Minister, you have not contradicted the notes of this ministry of dates July 9 and September 20 last, which treat of the points which have been under discussion and in which the reasons on which this government then founded its negative were not only well defined. In view of this the case in question cannot be considered and the government of Venezuela would see with satisfaction that the United States would consider the matter terminated the interested parties always having the right of recourse to the tribunals of justice of the republic if they deem it convenient."

WOMAN HURLED 40 FEET IN QUEER EXPLOSION, DIES

Coroner to Start Thorough Investigation

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Mrs. Emma Stilwell was terribly injured by the explosion of gas in a manhole at Sutter and Kearney streets, at 830 last evening, and died at the Central Emergency Hospital at 2 o'clock this morning, after five hours of awful suffering.
Coroner Leland will immediately begin an investigation into the cause of the explosion, and will endeavor to set the facts before the jury so that the responsibility may be fixed.
Mrs. Stilwell had just alighted from a street car and was about to board a Kearney street car when she stepped on the cover of a manhole, and was blown forty feet. She was picked up in an unconscious condition and removed to the hospital.
She leaves, besides her husband, A. W. Stilwell, a sister, Miss Mabel Bates, who was with her at the time of the accident.

CLAIMS COMMITTEE GIVES S. P. HEARING

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A hearing was given today by the claims committee of the House on the claim of the Southern Pacific Company for $1,500,000 reimbursement on account of the damming and controlling of Colorado river in Southern California at the request of President Roosevelt to save the Imperial Valley from submergence and its homes and crops from destruction. Maxwell Evans, chief counsel to the Southern Pacific Company, presented the claim. C. E. Graney, consulting engineer of the reclamation service, who at the committee's request was employed by the Southern Pacific to audit the company's bills and accounts with respect to that work, recommended that the company's claim be cut down about $500,000.
The matter reached no decision.

VENUE OF JURORS FOR EACH COURT

District Attorney Plans to Have Panel of Veniremen for Each Department.

District Attorney Everett J. Brown wants a panel of veniremen for the criminal and each of the three civil departments of the Superior Court and in all probability this course will be followed next term. It will mean that there will be 400 veniremen in all called, whereas there have been 100 in the past.
A recent act of the Legislature permits of the calling of a panel for each department of the court, with the exception of the probate. In the event that a jury is named in the probate department one can be obtained from one of the other courts, but the other four courts will not be able to exchange veniremen.
The criminal court calendar is crowded to overflowing at the present time, as are all the other departments. District Attorney Brown is desirous of having civil matters taken up as well as the criminal, but the judges will probably confer and grant the request of the District Attorney and try only criminal cases for the time being.
Brown states that during the summer vacation of the courts criminal trials will be held, judges from other places being on the bench.

SCHOOL GIRL IS DROWNED IN A SWIFT MILL RACE

Went Boating With Chum and Canoe Turned Over.

ETIENNE, Ore., April 2.—Miss Edna Yarnell, a high school girl and a student of the University of Oregon school of music, was drowned in the mill race last evening while canoeing with Vesta Davis, who narrowly escaped the same fate. The girls had gone to the head of the mill race and started down the swiftly flowing stream past the island which divides the race from the river. The canoe overturned and both occupants were thrown into the water.

WM. H. MACKINNON SELLS 22D-ST. PROPERTY

An important real estate deal was consummated this morning when Wm. H. Mackinnon sold to E. A. Forbes of Colusa, but more recently of the Sacramento Valley, property on Twenty-second and Adeline streets for $38,000. The property is 250 feet on Adeline street by 250 feet wide. This is considered an excellent price for the property. Colonel Forbes has bought the land for speculation.

BASEBALL FANS WAITING
OPENING WITH INTERESTSan Francisco Seals and Portland Beavers
Start "Er Going" At Recreation Park Sunday.

BY T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

Just two more days intervene and then the fans will have their first real baseball treat of the season, for Portland and San Francisco are to open the season at Recreation Park in San Francisco Saturday afternoon.

Jack Gleason's park is now a handsome bit of field, and the fans who have not been in the park as yet, and who attend Saturday will be greatly surprised at the improvement.

The skin diamond of last season has been replaced by a beautiful green infield, and other improvements have been made in keeping with the new diamond.

All the seats have been repainted and many new ones put in and the park in San Francisco is spick and span for the opening Saturday.

A parade will precede the game and there will be the other usual ceremonies attendant upon the opening of a baseball season.

McCreedy's men are now here and they are a likely looking bunch. Mack has a team of giants, and the chances are that before the season is very old they will be referred to as the "Giants."

The Portland manager is well pleased with his aggregation and he thinks he has picked up several men that will add strength to his club.

The Portland bunch finished last in the race last year, but McCreedy is confident that they will do much better this season. In fact, the northerners think that their team will be either there or thereabouts all the way along the route.

Jimmy Smith has passed up the spinet for the xylophone. Jimmy writes that the spinet hurt his batting arm. He explains that a gent has to have a wuon, but cross eye, to play the spinet with real ease, and that he also has to have his feet in good condition to slip on the wot pedal. Jimmy's foot is still in a bad way and for this reason he has dropped his practice on the spinet and returned to his first love, the xylophone. Jimmy's bun runner is coming around nicely. He has it geared in a 40 horsepower automobile tire, and he thinks this will make him fast. The rest of the bunch, however, think that it will make him fast only on one foot, and that to get the benefit of the tire he will have

BURLEIGH GRABS LOS GATOS
HANDICAP FROM PAJAROITAFavorite Defeated In Thrilling Finish—
Marvelous Miller Brings Home
Three Straight Winners

BY LEE DEMIER.

"Marvelous" Walter Miller rode in rare form at Williams Park yesterday, and when he landed Burleigh first by a whisker in the Los Gatos Handicap, he registered the third straight winning mounts out of five. This event was the main item on the card and called out a select field of favorites. Burleigh, a slight call in the betting and looked to have the race won at the paddock, but at this point Burleigh, which had been racing right after the pacemaker from the start, responded gamely to his rider's urging, and when on the last lap, he grabbed the decision by a scant head. It was a great finish, but strictly a two-horse race all the way. The Mist, blocks the best of the others, was third.

Mentry carried off second riding honors by piloting two good winners. Ziegler brought in the sixth.

Miller thought he had the first race won, and taking things a bit easy with John H. Sheehan at the end, allowed Adams to sneak through and beat him to the wire by the best part of a length. Sheehan held on long enough to snatch the show.

Under clever handling Fullea got up in time to win the second race a mile and one-half affair. Orchan set most of the pace, but faltered in the final furlong, losing second money to Pontotoc.

JAMES EDWARD BRITT AND 'BUSTER
BROWN' ONE OF HIS STANCH FRIENDS

P. P. MAGILLIGAN.

Have a look!

Pipe James Edward Britt in the role of a strong boy! The native boxer is shown in the act of holding out at arm's length 41-pound Buster Brown, a little showman, and a clever little chap at that.

"Buster is a great fight fan, and while it would be hard for Jeffries to get down to Buster's weight, Buster has a standing challenge to fight the big fellow if he can do forty pounds at 6 o'clock. Buster is the champion napskin-weight of the world. He has a grand record at his weight, having licked numerous postage stamps, and also having put out Kid Gas with one fell blow.

Since the days of Damon and Pythias no two fellows have been more inseparable than Britt and the little chap.

"Buster" thinks that Britt is the one best bet, and to hear him talk you would think that Britt already has McFarland down and counted out.

"Britt is one sissie," says Buster. Of course, McFarland is a great fighter, but they'll have to show me where he can beat Britt, and I'm not from Missouri, either, but from She-shot McFarland is a tough nut, but he believes that when Brother James puts the crusher on Paakey it will be over with the clever author.

Britt does little talking, while Buster Brown is on the job. Buster makes up for want of size with plenty of talk, and he is a pretty keen lad at that. He does the talking for Jimmy when he is at the camp, and even Willie, who is known both for fluency of ideas and a judicious vocabulary, has to take a rumble to himself and sit up and give a listen when the little splanter has the floor in behalf of the house of Britt.

Jimmy is leaving no stone unturned to get in grand form for the big battle at Gettysburg's arena. He works like a beaver, and is fine and hard now. There is a flash and a sparkle in the Britt eye, which betokens keen training. Britt is as fine and high strung as a great thoroughbred, and he is bound to make the fight of his life when he meets McFarland.

One prosperous citizen of San Rafael is on a still hunt for Cockey O'Brien. As was chronicled in this paper recently, Cockey, while playing ball with a hard-boiled frankfurter, tossed that deadly instrument of torture into a prosperous citizen's yard in San Rafael and gave one well-behaved palmetto tree. Said citizen says that since that terrible episode the palmetto tree has had hysteria and barks like a dog. He further alleges that the rest of the trees in the yard are now all weeping willows from shedding tears for the poor gored palmetto.

In rebuttal, Cockey says this is a nature fake and alleges that it was a soft-balled peach instead of the supposed egg that he tossed into the prosperous citizen's yard. He further alleges that every tree has a park coming to it anyhow.

The penansary of San Rafael are still in a dazed condition from looking at the well-proportioned figure of Lord Keegan, who appeared in that burg in a swell Paris creation suit, which resembled a window awning.

Britt will hold open house to all the fans next Sunday, but Cockey O'Brien and his trained frankfurters have been warned away.

REDDING, April 2.—Dick Hart of Chicago has been matched to meet Maurice Thompson in a fifteen round bout here April 15. Hart is a new-comer on the coast.

SPIKE ROBISON NO MATCH
FOR CHAMPION JOE GANS

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—Joe Gans had comparatively little trouble in stopping Spike Robison, the crack English fighter, here last night. The Englishman was no match for the old master and proved merely a punching bag for the great Gans. Robison was handicapped by a bad leg, his right, on which he wore a rubber stocking.

Gans started out to end the contest in the third. He drove Spike all over the ring. Getting the Englishman in the center he sent him to the floor with a punch on the jaw. Spike took the count and when he got up Gans went after him and Robison turned his back and rolled around on the ropes to avoid punishment. It looked as if he wanted to quit. Gans feinted and he went down without a blow. Spike rested on his knees a couple of seconds and Referee McGulgan waved Gans back. Joe let Spike get fairly on his feet and then sent the right to the jaw, which dropped the Englishman. He was struggling to get up when the referee stopped the contest.

The Oakland High School baseball nine defeated the California freshmen yesterday afternoon by a score of 7 to 5. The game was even nearly all the way, but Oakland finally began to bunch hits and this won the game for them.

Boston Will Have Monster Meeting

BOSTON, April 2.—Boston is to have a $50,000 turf event, the richest light harness prize horse have ever raced for in this country. This was decided upon by the directors of the New England Trotting Horse Breeders' Association. The race is open to all trotters and will be held at the association's track at Readville during the grand circuit meeting the week of August 24.

VIENNA, April 2.—In the eighth round of the international chess tournament today both Americans won their games—Marshall against Cohn and John against Berger. Maroxy and Schlechter are now tied for first place.

Matt Harris Will Referee All Bouts

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Matt Harris will referee the ten special bouts to be given under the auspices of the Olympic Club at the Mission street arena next Saturday afternoon. George James and F. W. Fenwick will be the judges and Frank O'Kane will act as timekeepers.

The affair Saturday will be for the purpose of picking the four best boxers in various classes to represent the Olympic Club at the coast championships to be held at Portland the latter part of the month.

Jockey Fohanka and given him the drift.

Rin Ran failed to make a noise. The game is still young.

Tob Ramsey caught a nice bet on Orchan to show.

Jockey Reggie Davis should be given a chance to ride for his employer at last.

The jungleties rolled in several barrels of flour on the win of Boloman.

The bunch from Seattle went down the line on Miss Officious. They broke even to the race.

Owner Billy Finn and his friends stood to win a bunch of coin on Wahoo. The Lieak filly tired the last quarter.

Neva Welsh was meant, but that was all. The filly mare was backed from 12 down to 7 at post time.

Only three more days at Arcadia.

FINANCIAL NEWS, ETC.

Stocks in New York continue weak. Rawhide reports show several important strikes. Development work is going forward very rapidly.
Aitchison, Tzopka and Santa Fe declared an annual dividend of 2 1/2 per cent on the common stock.
Several important deals in Oakland real estate have taken place this week.
Bonds are firm, and being largely bought by investors.

MRS. ALFRED GWYNNE VANDERBILT SUES FOR AN ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

HEAD OF FAMILY SAILS AWAY TO ENGLAND

Multi-Millionaire's Open Liason
With "Mrs. Ruise" Proves
Too Much for His Wife.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Despite the fact that only three days ago Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt personally denied all reports to the effect that she had separated from her husband for good as "absurd and malicious," she yesterday confirmed the stories concerning the domestic troubles in the Vanderbilt home by filing suit against her husband in the Supreme Court.

Anticipating the action of his wife, Alfred Vanderbilt sailed for Europe a few hours before the filing of the papers, not to return until after a decade has been handed down to the former Ellen French.

Thus he, too, confirmed the stories, which he recently denied, to the effect that he and his wife had had a scene in their Newport home, that she had announced her final determination to break with him forever, that she had moved all of her personal effects from the Vanderbilt farm at Portmouth, N. Y., to her brother's home at Tuxedo, and that she had packed her baggage, shipped his big stables to England and told his close friends that he would follow his horses and hounds across the Atlantic, where he would make his home.

Shuts Himself Up
In order to dodge interviewers Mrs.

Vanderbilt gave it out that she had left for the South, and then she quietly secluded herself in the home of her brother, Amos Tuckar French, at Tuxedo, there to await her freedom from the bonds which lately have become intolerable.

David McClure, a prominent lawyer, was appointed to hear the case, by order of Justice O'Gorman, and to make a report of his findings to the Supreme Court. It is expected that within a month the young people—who, because of their wealth and social position, are perhaps the best known couple in the country—will be legally parted.

Because he feared certain sensational features of the case would be disclosed (as they have been) Vanderbilt made a desperate attempt to keep the whole affair secret.

Even as he strode the deck of the Mauretania before she started down the bay, Vanderbilt insisted that he knew nothing of any legal action.

But it was not until his cousin, Consuelo, the Duchess of Marlborough, barely nodded to him as she boarded the ship to return to her home abroad, that she apparently let out the proceedings and did not view Alfred's share in them with approval.

Vanderbilts Cut Aired.
The whole Vanderbilt family and all their social connections in New York, Boston and Newport have "cut" Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt ever since his wife's charges became public through the newspapers.

His relatives and former friends shunned him with coolness because of his scandalous escapades involving a stablemaster, jockeys, actresses and certain notorious ladies who have decorated the primrose path of the heir to $60,000,000 during his flashing career along the coast while away from his home.

Alfred Vanderbilt, for some time has been seen rather more in the Tenderloin restaurants than in the company of his wife.

His penchant is well known for coaching parties whose chief amusement is making country taverns howl until morning and then driving into town singing and tooting horns, with disheveled girls and loudly dressed gentlemen of the underworld flaunting their intoxication in the faces of staid people.

"Instincts of Stable Boy."
Perhaps it was this mode of life which recently impelled Mrs. Vanderbilt to say: "Alfred has the instincts and breeding of a stable boy."

Mrs. Vanderbilt has often expressed the knowledge of the shame and humiliation which her position to her friends, and has positively stated that only the desire to shield her little son from the contamination of her husband's open disgrace has deterred her so far from instituting legal proceedings for separation.

Even Vanderbilt's most intimate friends, who have long tried in vain to make him break away from his dissipation, frankly admit that Alfred Gwynne's reckless dissipation has changed him utterly.

From a shy, pleasant, courteous youth, whose polish and perfect manners were a source of pride to his former self, his face is heavy and seared; his jaw and mouth have become hard, and in every way the present head of the Vanderbilt house and chief controller of the greatest fortune in America, reflects in his exterior the brutalizing effects of a hard fast life.

"Picture of Dorian Gray."
"Yes, Alfred Vanderbilt has thrown himself away," said an old friend of his father's last night "and it is a shame, for the boy had a fair start, even for a rich man's son, and we had hoped that he would keep up the fine, manly name set by the Commodore."

"The life of Alfred Vanderbilt is like Oscar Wilde's famous story, 'The Picture of Dorian Gray'—we are only waiting for the tragic climax that always means the end in such cases."

Recently Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's liason with Mrs. Ruise, a vivacious French doll, whose rouged cheeks and fluffty creations are her chief marks of identification, however, Alfred could not keep silence and self-respect at the same time.

Liason With Mrs. Ruise.
Mrs. Ruise has been established by Vanderbilt at 505 Lexington avenue, Newport, as Mrs. Florez.

The famous $10,000 automobile transaction followed Mrs. Ruise bought the motor and when the $8,000 was paid she threatened to go to Mr. Vanderbilt about it. The next day Mrs. Ruise appeared with eleven $1000 notes and settled.

Openly since Mrs. Vanderbilt's departure from Newport, Mr. Vanderbilt has visited Mrs. Ruise. He also has been seen with other women who are not socially prominent.

It was learned late last night from an official in the county courthouse who saw the papers in the case that Mrs. Vanderbilt's action is one of absolute divorce.

Chandler P. Anderson, Mr. Vanderbilt's personal counsel, who was seen last night in regard to the suit, said: "You see I am in no position to talk on the affairs of my client."

When Mr. Anderson was informed that it had been learned that the action was one for absolute divorce he said, "I cannot talk."

It is not known what persons, if any, were named, or exactly what is charged against the sporting millionaire. These facts will probably become public today, however.

The law firm of Anderson & Anderson, it is said, will care for Mr. Vanderbilt's interests.

Nothing to Say.
"I have nothing to say about any alleged divorce or separation," said Vanderbilt when interviewed by a promenade deck of the Mauretania. This was earlier in the afternoon, before the papers were filed.

"Are you going to make your permanent home in London?" he was asked.

"No, indeed," was the smiling response. "I am just going over to England to run my four-in-hand coach for the summer, as I ran it in New York during the past few seasons. It is a sort of experiment. I will start in a few weeks. I am proud of being an American citizen and intend to remain one."

"Mrs. Vanderbilt, in an interview, said it was by no means unusual for you and she in this apart. She accounted for the stories of a separation with that statement. Do you agree with that?"

The young man smiled peculiarly and replied: "What Mrs. Vanderbilt says is right. I suppose."

His name did not appear on the sailing list, his stateroom was engaged in the name of his valet. He was asked, "Are you alone on this trip?"

"Entirely," he replied.

"But the Duchess—"

"Oh, yes, the Duchess is sailing today, too, I believe, but we each have our own plans."

Consuelo Is Chilly.
It was just at this moment that Alfred's cousin, Consuelo, passed. For a second it looked as though there was to be no salute exchanged, but the Duchess, seeing a newspaper man was talking to her cousin, inclined her head in a fraction of an inch and nodded the brim of her hat. With a parting statement that he had nothing to say about the prospective legal action, he went to his stateroom.

Every effort will be made, it is understood, to prevent Mrs. Vanderbilt's charges and testimony from becoming known. Her lawyers last night refused to say a single word about the situation and so did Chandler P. Anderson on behalf of her husband. Likewise Referee McClure kept mum.

Won't Name Co-respondents.
When seen in Tuxedo last night Mrs. Vanderbilt was apparently much less worried and distressed than she has been at other times during the past few weeks. She seemed to be well pleased at something—and also at declining to inform the public of her suit.

"Who is named?" she was asked.

"How do you know there is a suit?" she retorted.

She was informed that it had been made public in the Supreme Court that papers had been filed.

"Well, then those papers will give all the information," she said, apparently aware that the papers were filed secretly.

This same response—"The papers will tell everything"—she offered to every question that was asked about allometry, the custody of her child and the other features that go along with a suit.

"Do you expect the hearing to be secret, or will its progress become known?" was inquired.

"That I don't know. Lawyers have the say altogether in matters of this sort. The client has nothing to do with it. Now, that's all I can say. The papers will have to speak for themselves."

Involved in Scandal.
Last summer Vanderbilt was involved in the trouble over Florence Schneek, the beautiful young Virginia girl, who eloped with Charles H. Wilson, Vanderbilt's stable manager, and who afterwards was deserted and repudiated by him. She reached this country absolutely destitute.

Not only Wilson's name, but Vanderbilt's name, was involved.

Two Ladies From Cincinnati, Ohio, Were Heard to Say:
"We have been all over town looking for the City Park, one such as we have at Cincinnati, but we had to pay 10c to get inside of your only park."

"Well, when you only have one park it is business to charge admission to get inside of it. They could, however, have gone down on the Twelfth street dam and taken a look at the City Park, south to Eighth street, that looks like the garbage dumps in Cincinnati. Nothing like making visitors feel at home, you know. We showed them some beautiful brass beds and rugs and carpets and they complimented our line very highly."

MINING EXCHANGE HAS DISBANDED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The San Francisco Mining Exchange is no more. On the first anniversary of its founding, April 1, 1907, the exchange was formally disbanded yesterday. A meeting of the members was held in the afternoon to execute the will of the majority, which had already been received in writing.

Two weeks ago President E. H. Kramer addressed letters to all members of the board, requesting that they send in a written vote on the question of disbandment. The result of the canvass was 23 for disbandment and 6 for continuation.

The San Francisco Mining Exchange was formed a year ago from the San Francisco and Tonopah Mining Exchange, which had been in existence for five years. It was formed during the Tonopah agitation and was the first boardroom in California to list Southern Nevada stocks. For several years the San Francisco Mining and Exchange Board has been handling most of the business. Talk of breaking up has been circulated among members of the smaller board for several months.

The exchange was in good financial condition. The $25,000 in the treasury is to be divided pro rata among the 110 members after the few obligations of the board have been paid. In speaking of the disbandment last night, Mr. Kramer said:

"The dissolution of our board occurred this afternoon. Our meeting was harmonious and practically unanimous. The board is in good shape financially. Lack of business was the sole reason for our disbandment."

Alfred G. Vanderbilt inherited a fortune of $60,000,000 at the death of his father, the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. At the same time, although a younger son, he became the head of that branch of the Vanderbilt family, his older brother, Cornelius, having become estranged from his father through his marriage with Miss Grace Wilson.

Alfred then married Ellen French, the daughter of the late Francis O. French, a New York banker, in January 11, 1901. At the time of his marriage Vanderbilt was 22 years old and his bride 21. They have one child, a boy, who is with his mother at the home of Mrs. Vanderbilt's brother in Tuxedo Park.

Society Not Surprised.
NEWPORT, R. I.—There was little surprise expressed in any quarter today over the announcement that formal action in a suit for absolute divorce had been taken by Mrs. Ellen French Vanderbilt against Alfred G. Vanderbilt.

Within the social set in which the couple have been leaders it had been known for a year or more that there was a lack of mutual good feeling between the young people.

While the parties to the trouble and all their intimates maintained the utmost reserve since the reports of family troubles became public a week ago, still many circumstantial stories had found their way into print and were accepted as true, so there there is remaining little doubt that legal action will soon be taken.

"Nobody's Business."
Vanderbilt, when questioned about the departure of his wife from the Vanderbilt farm at Portmouth, R. I., and asked if he had been consulted before the move was made, replied, "Mrs. Vanderbilt is free to visit her brother at any time without my consent. He and Mrs. Vanderbilt flatly refused to discuss the relations existing between them, on the ground that 'it is an affair in which the public has no concern.'"

Vanderbilt's departure for Europe had been planned for early in the week, but delayed until yesterday at the last moment. His delay, it is now said, was brought about through the service upon him of the papers in his wife's suit for divorce.

Death Was On His Heels.
Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and fearful that I thought that my friends, declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. When I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery, it helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and lung disease in all the world. Sold under guarantee at Caggs' drug store 50c and $1.00 trial bottle free."

For Whooping Cough.
Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it will keep the cough loose, expectoration easy and render the fits of coughing less frequent and less severe. It is safe and sure. For sale by Caggs' drug store, 7th and Broadway and 12th and Washington streets.

Excursion To Ukiah
The Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co. will run one of its popular excursions to Ukiah on Sunday, April 12. At this time of the year the ride through Marin, Sonoma, Russian River and Ukiah valleys is most enjoyable, as the country presents its most beautiful aspect. The sight of the wild flowers and the fruit and other trees in full blossom is alone worth the trip. At Ukiah visits can be made to the Vichy Springs, Fish Hatchery, Asylum and other points of interest. One taking this trip will find absolute comfort, as each ticket insures a seat.

The fare for the round trip is only $2.50 and the leaving time at San Francisco ferry is 8 a. m. Tickets on sale at the ferry commencing next Monday.

Nature evidently intended that Kapokeen should be used in the manufacturing of mattresses. It is the only substitute ever discovered for hair. Its fibre is grown in Java, gathered by the natives and sun cured and is then imported by us to California. Here it is put through our own curing process and is then enclosed in a strong, handsome, dust proof art ticking; full 6 inch box, imperial edge, four rows of side stitching. The workmanship is equal if not superior to any manufactured in the United States.

WIFE OF UNIVERSITY MAN GIVEN DECREE OF DIVORCE

Judge Plays Husband for Making Derogatory Remarks.

SAN RAFAEL, April 2.—Judge Lennon last night handed down a decree granting a divorce to Mrs. Roy M. Smith from her husband, the popular University of California man, glee club singer and member of the exclusive De Koven Singing Club, on the ground of extreme cruelty. In handing down the decree the Marin county jurist severely censured Smith for telling Dr. J. Rosenthal of San Francisco that his wife had had a criminal operation performed on her when she was 16 years of age.

The decision was announced from the bench at the end of a lengthy night session, during which the court listened to the arguments of the attorneys for both sides. Theodore A. Bell of Napa, candidate for Governor of the state on the Democratic ticket at the last election, was chief counsel for Smith, assisted by James W. Keyes of San Francisco. W. W. Kaufmann, assisted by E. B. Martineau, represented Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith charged her husband with striking her and beating her in Chicago several years ago, injuring her so that she was compelled to undergo an operation. The husband brought counter-charges of infidelity against his wife.
